PROGRAM FOR PROM WEEK

Elaborate Preparations Being Made by Centennial Class—Fraternity and Underclassmen Dances.

1912's Junior Promenade will be held in Soper Gymnasium February 16th, and with the avowed purpose of making the event eclipse all former ones, the committee, consisting of Walker, chairman, Boone, treasurer, Alvord, Bagg, Bedenkapp, Hopkins, Grant, and Watkins, have been hard at work since early December.

On Wednesday evening Psi Upsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Alpha Delta Phi, and E. L. S. will hold formals and Friday evening Sigma Phi, Chi Psi, Delta Upsilon, and Delta Kappa Epsilon will entertain. Thursday afternoon the Glee Club will give a concert in Commons Hall followed in the evening by Junior Prom. Friday afternoon the Charlatans will perform in Scollard Opera House. Altho the Dramatis Personae are exceedingly reticent, great things are to be expected.

An underclassmen dance is to be given Friday evening at the Alpha Delta Phi Hall. A similar affair was given last year when a successful and enjoyable dance was held at the Psi Upsilon House.

Several unique features and many improvements are promised by the Junior Prom committee, who have realized that the Centennial Class has a record all its own to sustain.

Zita, who was so well received last year, will furnish music. Negotiations are being made with a caterer from Albany. An experienced decorator wil attend to beautifying the gymnasium and in addition, will have charge of the fraternity booths. Some suitable dedication to the centennial class, in the form of floral decorations, will be included and the dancing will be interspersed with some appropriate feature. The usual tedious waiting for carriages is to be avoided. The uphill and downhill crowds will have carriages on opposite sides of the gymnasium and will take them in some definite rotation. Tickets are now on sale and can be obtained from the representative of any crowd serving on the committee.

THE SOPHOMORE SYMPOSIUM.

While the Freshmen were peacefully coming out on the Hill "Dinq" day evening, 1913 were exulting at the Richmond in Little Falls over one of the most absolute victories to their credit in class warfare. To be sure, an opprobrious dispatch from the "Slimers" called them "short skates," but that received scarcely passing notice in the glory of the moment.

Careful arrangements by an able committee, consisting of Wassung, chairman, Heidner, North, Batchelor, Davis, Barber, Groves, and Wheelock, promised a successful reunion and everyone on the special which reached Clinton at two-thirty vociferated their praise.

The Richmond served an elaborate repast which was necessarily long in progress because of much cheering and singing and vaudeville stunts by the compulsory guests, Robinson, Greengard and Gates, '14, who were gathered from the Martin's inviting halls into waiting, hungry arms. They acquitted themselves nobly.

With the coffee, President Porter introduced the speakers of the evening. Meyers, '13, spoke on class and college athletics, and Simons, '13, preambled on the merits of "God's Country" (which, be it known, contains "Simp's" paternal habitat and little else) and scurfed "Bill" Kultchar's feet. In the absence of McKee, ex-'13, who was to toast "the absent ones," Bert Collins, ex-'13, spoke briefly of the College and the class. Wassung, '13, spoke on "Biblical sayings," and Greengard, '14 enlivened the moment with a few vocal selections. Stone, '13, discussed the Freshmen and Wheelock, '13, praised the absence of "dinqs." Lewis, '13, responded to a toast on the "Alcohol Special," and Hahn, '13, praised the first class of the new century. Phelps, Syracuse University '13, Williams, '08, and Pratt, '12, spoke briefly. A few yells and Carissima ended the evening's merriment.

CLINTON TO HEAR CLUBS

First Concert to be Given on February Third—Management Hopes to Raise Money for Chicago Trip.

The initial Musical Club's concert of the year will take place in Clinton on February 3d, at Scollard Opera House. It is planned to make this concert much more of a college affair than the Clinton concert has hitherto been. The date of the concert has been set later than that of the usual Clinton performance, in order that the clubs may be more fully prepared to appear in public and that some of the try-it-on-the-dog element might be absent. A program is being prepared that will differ materially from those of subsequent concerts.

At this time the monologue tryouts will be held, there being at present four candidates, Fawcett, '11, Peck, '12, Callahan, '13, and Greengard, '14. The appearances will not be those of amateurs, for all the would-be monologists have had more or less experience in their particular lines. Callahan has an original line of talk, written expressly to fit his naive personality; Fawcett comes round-shouldered with Charlatan laurels; Peck is direct from his triumphs with the Wooster, Ohio, Musical Clubs; while Greengard condescendingly hails to us from the Morris Vaudeville circuit. Not a man in College will knowingly miss this aggregation of tradition-making stars, and that no one may miss it, soon there will pass among us eager-faced assistant managers with tickets exchangeable for reserved seats at Floyd King's. The concert is being run under the Club's own auspices in hopes that thereby some of the heavy expenses of the Chicago trip may be defrayed, and every man in College should make it a point to have no other engagement on the evening of February 3d.

—Prof. G. P. Bristol, '76, now at Cornell, was elected President of the New York State Teachers' Association at their meeting held recently in Rochester.

THE LIT. CLUB.

The next meeting of the Lit. Club will be held this Wednesday evening. The Club, which was started last term, will continue its sessions weekly, on Wednesday evenings, thruout the term at Prof. Ibbotson's house. The purpose of the Club is to prepare for the course in The English Novel, which will begin in the Spring Term.

THE FRENCH CLUB.

The French Club, an organization which formerly consisted of the Seniors alone, has been enlarged and is now composed of men from both the upper classes. The Club because of its size is divided into two sections which will meet on alternate Friday nights at Prof. Shepard's house.

—On Thursday evening the Senior Class will be entertained at the Delta Kappa Epsilon House.

—Bagg, '12, and Wassung, '13, have been confined to their rooms during the past week by illness.

—The Southern baseball trip will be made during the last week of April. The game schedule will probably include Delaware College, Richmond College, Eastern College, two games with Washington and Lee University, Trinity College, Agricultural and Mechanics University of North Carolina, and Randolph-Macon College. Twelve men will be taken on the trip.

—Last Thursday evening at the Yahnundasis Club the annual banquet of the Skenandoa Club of Clinton was held. Prof. H. B. Ward was the toastmaster. Judge R. C. Briggs of Rome was the chief speaker. Prof. Davenport was also one of the speakers. Prof. Shepard and Prof. Shearer were in attendance.

—Uncle John has set aside every Thursday afternoon from four until six o'clock for all men who want practice for the track team in the spring.

—A gratifying feature of the recent examinations is that no one in College has flunked out. It has been a number of years since the faculty has so truly caught the Christmas spirit.

—Captain Colson of the track team announces that there will be practice in the gymnasium every Thursday afternoon for the jumps, pole-vaults, weights and hurdles. Uncle John will coach.

"Hamilton oratory is traditional. Timeworn as that phrase may seem, we like to refer to it. But let a visitor within our halls witness any Saturday Chapel, and he probably would regard Hamilton oratory as a tradition, judging from any evidence of it he might gather. The fact is that Saturday Chapels are not interesting because we show no interest in the work."

This is how one of the Seniors, last Saturday, characterized the orations and discussions of the upperclassmen. The conditions he described in the course of his oration will bear more than a passing comment.

It is only too true that most of us look upon the Saturday Chapel work as an uncongenial and disagreeable task, one to be discharged with as little effort as possible. When we hold such an attitude, nothing is handier to our purpose than to "rehash", with a feeble attempt at rhetorical ornament, some magazine tirad against existing conditions, or to make a similar condensation of a biography or a technical discussion. And failing to find even such material as this, some men offer a shallow criticism on some phase of our college life. "There can be no originality in such work. Much of that little which does show a bit of independent thinking may be summed up as 'hot air', not to use a term more common to our vernacular. . . When this is delivered with the inspiration gained by a whole morning spent in learning it, as is only too often the case, our interest is not increased by any saving quality of good speaking."

In view of the training that everyone receives during his first two years, there is no reason why an upperclassman should not be able to write and deliver an oration that would hold the attention of his audience. The whole trouble lies in the feeling of indifference and irresponsibility which seems to be prevalent among the upperclassmen. Now this Saturday Chapel is an important part of our course. It represents a department in which, by common report, we are especially strong. The fact that we are disposed to neglect it or at the most give it but perfunctory attention indicates a spirit of disloyalty which cannot be too sharply censured. If we are too blind to recognize the advantages that naturally accrue to ourselves from honest work in this department, let us, at least, consider Hamilton's reputation as an incentive to greater efforts than we have displayed in the past.

Let us do away with these feeble attempts at imitation of the yellow magazines; let us cease to make our intramural affairs a topic for weekly discussion; let us, in a word, eliminate the thousand and one trivialities which have so long characterized the form and substance of Chapel work, and present real ideas and thoro prep aration to ourselves and to the College.

"Who is to have charge of the bowling alleys this winter and when are they to open?" This is a frequent question these days, but as yet it has not been answered. It is time for some energetic man who is looking for some easy money in exchange for a little work to hustle around and secure enough club members to warrant the opening of the alleys. After that it is clear sailing for the man in charge. It is reported that the alleys suffered some damage from the flood of last spring, but if enough men are willing to pay the fee for membership in the club the alleys would undoubtedly be put back into first class condition. It might be well to first estimate the amount of money that would be required for new equipment and then ascertain if enough men cared to join the club to warrant this original expenditure.

In past years bowling has been one of the most popular winter sports on the Hill. It affords an opportunity for inter-fraternity and team matches. It is good exercise and good fun.

There is an unusually large number of good bowlers in College this year who are now making use of the alleys in Utica. Should the Commons alleys be reopened this term it is more than probable that they would be well patronized.

Once more the payment of term bills is due and once again we call the attention of the College to the fact that on the same day the Treasurer of the Athletic Association will sit to receive the second installment of the athletic tax. The per capita apportionment for this term amounts to three dollars, a prompt payment of which will be to the advantage of our athletics and a gratification to the financial officers of the Athletic Association.

DR. SAUNDERS' MUSICAL.

On Saturday evening Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Saunders gave the College the privilege of listening to a string quartette composed of Dr. Saunders, Heidner, '13, 'Professor Frederick Saunders, Dr. Saunders' brother, and Professor Mahr of the Musical Department of Syracuse University.

Professor Frederick Saunders played the viola, and Professor Mahr the cello. Professor A. P. Saunders, whose musical ability is well known to the College, played the first violin parts, while Heidner, rendering the second violin parts, showed a degree of masterfulness that surprised many. Two quartettes of Haydn and one of Mozart were played. Light refreshments were served. The musical was held at Dr. Saunders' home and was attended by the numbers it deserved. Dr. Saunders has promised to make the occurrence of these musicals monthly.

—Prof. F. M. Davenport represented Hamilton at the State Conference on Taxation, held in Utica last week.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR.

"Disregarding the implicit instructions of his spouse, Professor Edward Fitch of the department of Greek of Hamilton College met with an accident which nearly terminated fatally for himself and his co-partner in misery." (New's Item.) The path of the transgressor is hard.

To be sure they made the flat by Prexie's in safety and little Greek hugged his satchel the tighter, the while he admired Freshman Callahan's dexterity in handling the sled, for the hill was fast. Down past Ed. North's they flew and nonchalantly wriggled derisive fingers at Mertz's Mongrel, as he emerged from nowhere and sought to procure edible bits of material from the rider's trousers. Like a shot they tore thru the arbor to the feeble applause of John Manning and Bill Kidney who were peacefully indulging in the 'makings' and seeking to keep out of harm's and DeRegt's way. Down, down flew these veritable Wright Brothers and then came the Psi U rail, which, co-existent with Pride, is always the forerunner of the inevitable.

"That d—— Alpha Delt cut-off," said the Freshman, as he extricated himself from Little Greek's embrace.

"What a beautiful antithesis," said Little Greek, as he picked up his watch on Davy's lawn, on the one hand, the ditch, on the other, another ditch.

Down from the Campus floated the strains of the Standard Oil doxology, sung in "Bud" Walker's resonant voice: "Praise John from whom oil blessings flow."

"Happy New Year," shouted "Bugs" at the unfortunate, snow-clad individuals, as he passed them on his way down to supper.

JUNIOR BEEFSTEAK DINNER.

With no need for the surreptitious arrangements of a year ago, Boone, Drummond, and Walker, the Junior dinner committee, have completed plans for 1912's beefsteak dinner. The class will leave en masse by special car at six-thirty, Saturday evening and will dine at Bagg's directly upon arrival. The feast will be followed by a theatre party at the Shubert. The two front rows have been reserved and the theatre will suitably acknowledge the occasion by appropriate decorations.

NEW YORK ALUMNI DINE.

The annual dinner of the New York City Alumni of Hamilton College was held at the Hotel Astor Saturday evening, January 14th, with Dr. Stryker and Governor Dix the guests of honor. Owing to a dinner engagement at the Lotus Club, where he spoke to 400 members on political affairs, Governor Dix and his staff did not get to the alumni dinner till quite late in the evening. His speech was, for the most part, a eulogy of Dr. Stryker, his splendid management of affairs at Hamilton College, and the good work accomplished by his speeches in the late State campaign. The dinner was successful in every way and was largely attended, over eighty being present. Archibald N. Shaw, '82, of New York, presided. The speakers besides Dr. Stryker and Governor Dix were Harry E. Dounce, '10; Robert M. Scoon, '07; Elihu Root, Jr., '03; E. E. Stowell, '01; Hon. Warren I. Lee, '99; Prof. Erastus Palmer, '82. The singing was unusually fine. Among others present were: Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, Prof. Francis M. Burdick, William H. Hotchkiss, Justice Abel E. Blackmar, Lieut. G. L. Stryker, Samuel Hopkins Adams, Assistant District Attorneys Reuben L. Maynard and Lloyd Stryker, Alexander Soper, Samuel S. Engs, Chester S. Lord, managing editor of the Sun, and H. H. Benedict.

APPOINTMENT OF SENIOR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the Senior Class held in the Chapel on Saturday appointments were made for the Senior Executive Committee which will have charge of that part of the Commencement program that devolves upon the class. The following men compose the committee: Getman, chairman; Curtis, Gaige, Gouge, Jessup, Mitchell Sidle and Wisehart. The president of the class, S. W. Jones, is to appoint a committee to arrange for caps and gowns.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

At the meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon, brief talks were made by those who attended the Student Volunteer Convention held in Schenectady last December. The following men spoke on the different phases of the work considered: Colson and Martin, '11, Eggleston, Parker, Peck, Plant, '12, Heidner, '13, and Calder, Cole, Leavenworth and

DR. HUBER, '87, TO LECTURE.

Professor Morrill has announced that some time during the present month Dr. John B. Huber, of the class of '87, will lecture in the Chapel on tuberculosis. Dr. Huber, who is now a practicing physician, and is recognized as one of the best authorities in the country, has written several books on tuberculosis and its relation to society which are now available in the Library.

Dr. Huber has recently been giving lectures before the students of Cornell and Colgate on the subject of sanitation. The lecture which he will give here will be in two parts. The first, in the evening, in Chapel, will be a more general study of the subject of tuberculosis with the aid of the stereopticon. The second, tho similar to the first, will be more concrete and will be given in Science Hall. All of the students are invited to attend the lectures.

The experience of Dr. Huber as a lecturer is wide and his success unusual. His lectures in Fordham College, and especially his recent talks on tuberculosis and sanitation have given him great prominence. The lecture here will be given free. A good audience should be present to receive Dr. Huber.

"HURLY GURLY" TO BE PRODUCED.

Since the Christmas holidays, the Charlatans have been actively engaged in preparing for their Junior Week play, which will probably be entitled "Hurly Gurly." At present Wisehart, '11, is drilling the cast, but Prof. Shepard will take charge when the work is well under way. Rehearsals are being held three evenings a week. On account of the complicity of the scenes rehearsals will be held in the Opera House at the earliest possible time. Among the cast, which is now nearly selected, will be the following men: Harper, Jones, O'Brien, Sidle, and Willard, '11; Erskine and Peck, '12; Heidner, Lyon, and Meyer, '13; Brown and McLean, '14. Sidle, Willard, Peck, Erskine, Heidner, Meyer, and Brown are to play the feminine roles.

—The Musical Clubs' pictures may now be obtained from Frey in Utica, the larger size costing one dollar and a half and the smaller size one dollar.
